I am writing this comment to ask you not to consider anything that will lessen the effect Indiana's Telephone Privacy Law. Since it went into effect, you cannot imagine the peace I have. Prior to signing on, I would get five or six calls a day trying to sell me everything from home remodelling to magazines and insurance. I work shift work and often sleep during the day, and would be woken up by solicitation for various things. I am a private person and I feel my phone is for my convenience, not someone trying to sell me a product or service. I love not having calls coming in from early morning to late at nite. Prior to this law, I even tried caller ID with Privacy Manager. This helped to a degree, but nowhere like this privacy law! Please do not do anything that will force me to deal with phone solicitors again!
